

About Us

Place of Enlightenment, Inc. is a 501 (c) (3) tax-exempt nonprofit organization based in Snellville, Georgia. Founded by Mr. David Murray in October 2010, our mission is to educate and provide assistance to the body, mind and spirit of individuals and communities. Our goal is to help build and restore the self image from a cultural, spiritual, physical and mental point of view. This movement began when Mr. Murray and his wife took in a family of five into their home due to the family's hardship. Currently, Place of Enlightenment is under the leadership of David Murray, his wife Andrea and the Board of Directors.

About Frontline Community Services, Inc., Partner

Frontline Community Services, Inc. is a 501 (c) (3) tax-exempt nonprofit organization based in metro-Atlanta, Georgia. It was established to educate the uninformed, protect the endangered, and benefit the deprived. Frontline Community Services, Inc. is committed to serving humanity by providing fundraising for U.S. Military Veterans programs, arts programs as well as community programs. Our purpose is to restore the family unit, promote a healthy lifestyle, cultivate leadership, stimulate the potential of the young, and uphold respect for all. These principals are our way of life knowing that success is measure by actual outcomes and not necessarily the process by which it is acquired.

Mission

In order to address the ongoing critical demand of providing emergency housing due to unforeseen calamitous events, the concept of Metro Atlanta Emergency Transitional Housing was formed. This facility will meet the need of families searching for temporary shelter after facing catastrophic events such as a fire, flood, or any other type of natural disaster.

Vision

Metro Atlanta Emergency Transitional Housing ensures that families are able to move into alternate, safe living quarters immediately after experiencing misfortune as a result of an inevitable natural disaster. Providing this foundation will help navigate them toward a life of normalcy.

Appeal

Place of Enlightenment and Frontline Community Services implore you to join us along with our partners as we embark on a multimillion dollar venture to build and provide emergency transitional housing to residents of metro-Atlanta when unexpected catastrophic events occur. For example, let's take a look of how a fire can be a life changing event.

There are about a half million fires in structures each year, according to the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA). In 2015, 77% were in residential properties causing $7.2 billion in damage.

Great strides have been made in constructing fire-resistant buildings and improving fire-suppression techniques, both of which have reduced the incidences of fire. However, in terms of property losses, these advances have been somewhat offset by increases in the number of and value of buildings. In 2015, on average, a fire department responded to a fire every 23 seconds in the US, according to the National Fire Protection Association. A structure fire occurred every 63 seconds, a residential structure fire occurred every 86 seconds and an
